War Production Board rules have been made to control manufacture of these items so that school children will have adequate supplies of writing tablets and note books, and commer cial stationery will be available for business offices, in spite of the acute paper shortage. Incidentally, the order will conserve 1,000 carloads of shipping space and considerable quantites of packing materials, as the lighter, thinner articles take up less

To meet an anticipated demand during 1943 for 900,000 baby carriages and about the same number of strollers, walkers and sulkies, WPB has revised its production schedule for these items to permit a considerable increase in the number that can be manufactured during the third quarter of this year.

American housewives are demonstrating every day the major part they are taking in this war through active work in War Production Board salvage campaigns. In such cases he is still limited to the sale of not more than 400 pounds annually unless he has a slaughter history and a slaughter quota. His permit is obtained from the county USDA war meat committee, and he must collect ration stamps for the meat sold." Effect of the order is merely to suspend the limit on slaughter for sale and on civlian deliveries of those already authorized to slaughter for sale and make civilian deliveries.

Federally licensed slaughterers wil continue to set aside definite percentages of their slaughter to meet military needs. Likewise, points must be collected for all meat sold when not delivered to exempted agencies.

Mr. Welch indicated that in the issuance of licenses and permits, special attention is being paid to sanitary and adequate conservation facilities of slaughterers. This is the beginning of the normal heavy slaughtering season. The War Food Administration hopes that the removal of the quota restrictions will move enough meat into the regular civilian supply channels to take care of all requirements.

STAY IN THE FIGHT

THE start of the Third War Bond Drive to raise $15,000,000,-000.00 throughout the nation was periectly timed with the unconditional surrender of Italy. Naturally, the American jority of 17,271. For Lieutenant on the part of the newspapers, for public is jubilant over the surrender of one of our enemies, however, we should not become complacent and lose sight of the fact that the weak sister has fallen, and that the two that are left are the stronger.

Our fight has only started. Even though we may be beginning to realize some results, these results can only be continued through the cooperation and effort of the people at home, putting into the hands of the men on the battle field the necessary L. A well supplied army can do things and go places. The gan was nominated by a vote of boys on the battle front cannot do the supplying and the fighting. It is up to us on the home front to furnish the equipment of war. Our government can only do this when they have sufficient money to make the necessary purchases.

QUIT PASSING THE "BUCK"

"IT will simply not be possible to sustain our air armadas in the ing well in the Tinslely Field being skies over Germany and Italy and the Japanese-held isiands of the Pacific, or provide our mechanized ground forces with all that they require, if, at the same time, the demands of an unrestrained civilian consumption have to be met at home:"

If it means restriction from the use of gasoline entirely, this will be done, and the American public will take it as a patriotic duty. However, up until this time we have been led to believe that the gasoline rationing was put into effect due to transportation and to conserve rubber moreso than for the conservation of gasoline and with the statement being made that gasoline was plentiful.

The average American knows that modern warfare requires much gasoline and oil, and if the officials would have the courage to say to the American public: "It is necessary that we have all gasoline and oil in the country for this use," we believe the automobiles would be put on the shelf for the duration. OUR SYMPATHIES

TROM Jackson, Miss., comes a cry of lament, almost of despair. For several months corn pone has been as scarce on the JOHN BEAL dining tables as T-bone steaks. Wholesale and retail grocers PLUShave pitifully small stocks of cornmeal and grits, or none at all So the national dish of the neighboring state has done a blackout.

The blame lies with the com belt farmers. Instead of turning loose their corn for human consumption they are keeping it to fatten their hogs. Porkers are waxing fat up that way, and achieving enormous jowls and growing plump with what will eventually be thick slabs of bacon. But the people of Mississippi hath not what it takes to live comfortably and provide the energies for their daily activities.

What is hog jowl and turnip greens without hunks of corn pone? What is breakfast bacon without a steaming mound of grits? What is pot likker without cornmeal sticks or muffins? What is 'lassus for but to spread on a buttered slab of corn

Our sympathies to the people of Jackson and elsewhere in Mississippi as they take on this extra hardship of the war. And we feel like offering a bit of advice: Grow more corn and thereby achieve greater independence from those selfish and unfeeling farmers of the corn belt. There'll be corn pone all the time, and for all of the culinary combinations, when the people of Mississippi get more of their living off their own land.—N. O. States, Sept. 7th, 1948.

says Prentiss Brown, Administrator of Office of Price Administration

Tulpwood cutting has recently been listed as an essential occupation and those engaged in it should now include such activities in connection with any application for supplementary gasoline, tire, or automotive rations.

"If you are using gasolinepowered equipment in sawing, drawing or trucking pulpwood and it is absolutely necessary for you to have an additional allowance, you should report the fact to your local rationing board, giving full information as to the number of cords to be cut and the distance it must be trucked.

BARBARA STANWYCK SINGS AND DANCES IN NEW ROLE

"Lady of Burlesque" at A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday

With the war headlines getting us down daily, and tired war workers in urgent need of relaxation, it is pleasant to be able to recommend a film that offers temporary escape at least from all our problems. It is "Lady of Burlesque," at the A. & G. Theater Sunday and Monday. through United Artists release, and is as gay and tuneful and mirth-pro_ voking as the doctor ordered.

The famous strip tease artist, Gypsy Rose Lee, authored the story, "G-String Murders," from which this brittle, streamlined story running from the zaniest farce to tense, suspense_filled drama, was adapted. And who, better than Gypsy, could describe so perfectly the exciting, colorful life behind the scenes as well as in front of the footlights in a Broadway burlesque theater.

Barbara Stanwyck plays the starring role ,that of Dixie Daisy, a small town burlesque performer who suddenly gets her big chance at The Old Opera House, a famous burles_ que theater on Broadway. Barbara sings and dances her way to instant success on opening night. There are some gay and tantalizing songs which Miss Stanwyck sings in her sauciest manner, an abundance of dancing, from tap to jitterbug to splits and cartwheels, and lusty jokes and slapstick comedy of the burlesque variety that will have the audience practically rolling in the

As for the fetching costumes worn by the beautiful chorus, ranging from Amazonian six foot show girls to the cutest dancing ponies, well, seeing is believing, and you will have to see these to realize how eye-filling such an ensemble can really be.

Ever think about Running a Factory?

TF you've ever run a farm or dairy or store, there are a lot I of things about running a factory that you'd find pretty familiar. Things like working any and all hours, training green help, planning for months ahead without letting the planning interfere with the job of the moment.

These are the responsibilities of management. And the peculiar American ability to meet and lick these problems means a lot today, both on the food-producing and weaponproducing fronts.

Ability to manage isn't picked up overnight. For good management is a skill just as much as good workmanshiplearned the hard way.

It won't be forgotten overnight, either. For it is these men who, on farm and in factory, have actually produced the things from which our high living standard is derived, who can and will, by working together, give every American a more abundant life in the peacetime years to come. THIS YEAR, the gift from home is doubly precious, doubly needed. As the war progresses, the tempo of action is being speeded up, all over the world. Wherever he is, the sound of mail call is the one moment of the day to which he looks forward eagerly, longingly, especially as Christmas approaches. He needs your letters and he needs your gifts, and now is the time to select and mail them. Don't wait... for by shopping now, you help ease the strain on shipping facilities, and give your soldier, your sailor that extra "lift" that helps him go on as nothing else can. Think of it this way..... all the blood plasma, all the sulfa drugs, all the ambulances in the world can't ease the pang of disappointment when the boys and girls in other lands don't hear from home for Christmas.

Isn't this enough to send you downtown today . . . to select their Christmas gifts? Remember, consult your local post office before taking your gifts in for mailing. You may send packages up to 5 pounds without requests from the addressees between September 15, 1943 and October 15, 1943. It is important that the package be endorsed "Christmas Parcel." A Substitute for Hell

Somewhere in New Guinea these wounded soldiers await evacuation. Flat on their backs, in the steaming heat of the jungle, where mosquitoes plague the air and ants and mosquitoes torment weary bodies, they dream of home . . . of clean white sheets and the touch of cool, comforting hands. The Ammunition is being passed

There's no monkey-business about the way the ammunition is being passed in this war, either. For example, the Navy's 5inch 38 caliber gun throws shells at planes or surface craft at a terrific rate. Its powder and shells must come to the gun in a steady stream. How is it done? With an ingenious hoist whose tolerances are so close that the mechanism is comparable to the movement of a fine watch.

Ammunition hoists for the Navy are being produced so fast and efficiently by the Busch-Sulzer Bros. Diesel Engine Company that the organization has been awarded a second star in its Navy E pennant. Busch-Sulzer, which made engines for submarines in the last war, was founded by Adolphus Busch, the founder of Anheuser-Busch. He was the first to build Diesels in America—and the first American made Diesel went into the Home of Budweiser: Now as then, the quest for better methods and facilities to produce the world's most popular beer never copper.
